Hands at Advancing Prices—Some of the Buyers—Laks Eric and Western Lending a Good Deal of Money on the Street-Features of To-Day e Market.

The bears started out well this morning, nd, as usual of late, felt for weak spots in the market. They soon found one in the case of Union Pacific, and in a twinkling had the stock down about two sints, depressing the price to 84%. The strated before 12 o'clock that there sas a powerful party at work on the opposite sk. Rumors that the Northwest roads were ng of the fight was the first thing call a halt in the selling movement. Then came the report of the St. Paul for the first week of October, showing a decrease of less than $5,000 on the earnings of 1886. This created genuine surprise, but the event of the day was the announcement that the Reading syndicate had bought out the holders of the First Series 5s, and would now proceed in the work of reorganization without fore-closure.

the work of reorganization without foreclosure.

When this became known large orders appeared in the market for Reading, and thousands of shares were taken from 59% up to about 62. All the pounding by the beers was without effect, and stocks advanced 1 to 2 per cent. right through the list. The bulls carried the day, and after the lively shaking up received by them of late, were correspondingly jubilant.

Work, O'Keefe & Co., who have been prominent of late in this stock, took 5,000 Reading. Drake and Work, Strong & Co. took a similar amount. Cary bought 4,000, Chapin 2,500, John S. James, Brown, Nicholas and Moore & Schley 2,000 each.

The Lake Erie and Western Company is reported to be lending something like $750,600 on the street. Probably this prosperity has had some influence with the diagruntled bondholders of the other railway companies now in process of reorganization, as it la announced to-day that the Buffelo, Rochester and Petersburg has at length secured a settlement with its income bondholders, the latter having at last agreed to accept 50 per cent, of their claim in new consolidated bonds.

The Grain Market. a of the wheat market to-day has been dull and depressed following the full estimates on the crop given in the last report of the Agricultural Burean, and the reported increase of over 500,600 bnahels in the visible supply for the week. The heavy movement at the West is not reassuring to bull operators and the inactivity in the cash market and the shrinkage in volume of the trading for the foreign account encourages the bears to go on selling the market. Cable advices were featureless. Prices were steady to-day in the options, at about yesterday's range. November selling at $1\times 0., heccember $2\times 0., january $3\times 0., May $50.

The Petroleum Market. There was considerable activity shown in peculative dealings in oil to-day, and the sarket was firm all the forenoon at a higher range of prices than at last even-ing's close. It looks somewhat as if the bulls had inaugurated a determined cam-paign, and were prepared to exert every effort to beg up prices. The abort interest is believed to be considerable. The fold news was rather bearish, at noon oil was selling at 69%.

The Cotton Market. culation in cotton futures was moderately active again to-day, and the feeling in the market appeared to be firmer than at the close yesterday, and the seiling of the bull operators which, was a feature of the trading yesterday, was not so noticeable. The bears are still somewhat nervous, and there was a disposition shown to cover during the early hours of trading to-day.

The Coffee Market. The cable advices to-day reported the Havre market quiet at an advance of M france since the opening. In the local market trading was quiet and without special feature of interest, prices showing an advance of 5 a 10 points over last night's closing figures.

JUBILANT TYPOS.

The Striking Book Compositors Believe They Will Carry the Day.

Two hundred and twenty-five striking book ompositors are assembled at Pythagoras Hall, in Canal street, to-day, discussing the prospect of the success of their effort to make all the book printing houses "card offices." They are in good spirits. Secretary De Baun. of the Typothetæ, or employers' association, sent word that he would accede to the terms of the new scale and employ union men only. E. P. Cohn & Co. also agreed to the terms of

E. P. Cohn & Co. also agreed to the terms of the union.

The seventy compositors employed by Theodore De Vinne did not return to work this morning because of their employer's refusal to recognize the card rule. The committee said that unless Mr. De Vinne came to terms before night all the hands in his establishment would go out.

The offices now on strike are as follows: Hunter & Beach, Hewitt, Trow, A. G. Sherwood, Middleditch, Smith & McDougall, De Vinne, Tyrrell, Drummond & Neu and E. Putnam.

wood, Middleditch, Smith & McDougall, De Vinne, Tyrrell, Drummond & Neu and E. Putnam.

The union committee decided not to send any one to represent the strikers before the State Board of Arbitration and Mediation, now in session at the Metropolitan Hotel.

The State Board of Arbitration received a letter this afternoon from Secretary Belmont of the Committee of Typographical Union No. 6, saying the committee had no power to submit the strike to arbitration.

Another letter was received from Mr. De Vinne, representing the employers. He says: "The Typotheta decided to stand by their refusal to become card offices and accept the consequences of a strike. We are exceedingly obliged to you for your prompt response to our wishes, and deeply regret that the perseverance of a few unthinking men who dominate the Union should make your mediation impossible. The employers are united, and have no doubt of their ultimate success."

It was reported that the men in Harper Bros. 'establishment and those in three other large houses would quit this evening, their employers having refused to agree to their demands. It is also expected that the hands in twenty-five other printing-offices will not return to work to-morrow morning unless the new scale is granted. It is believed that over five hundred men will go out.

The employing printers are holding a meeting at 27 Murray street this afternoon to agree upon a plan of action.

All the offices on strike are picketed by the union men, but everything is orderly around them.

THEY WILL FIGHT IT OUT.

The Brassworkers and Their Employers Fail te Compremise.

At the meeting of the State Board of Arbitration and Mediation this morning a letter was received from the Chandelier Manufacturers Association saying that its Executive Committee ing that its Executive Committee had been delegated to meet a committee from the Executive Board of the Brass-Workers' Union for a final conference concerning the fockout.

Walking Delegate Ford, on behalf of the Brass Workers Union, said that they were glad that the manufacturers had consented to hold a conference with them, and the Executive Committee were ready to act. Commissioner Purcell suggested that the conference be held immediately. The commissioners and the representatives of the press then withdrew and left the manufacturers and the Executive Committee of the brass workers alone to try to come to an amicable agreement as to the Saturday half holiday.

The conference lasted two hours, and at 1.45 o'clock the commissioners were sent for and the announcement made by the manufacturers' committee that they would not hold any further negotiations with the committee of the United Brassworkers, and would treat only with their employees individually. Mr. Ford said he wanted it understood that his organization was not responsible for the failure to arbitrate the matter, and the blame should rest on the manufacturers. He thought the fight would continue more bitterly than ever.
